

The Trick

Magician shows two boomerangs -- a bigger orange one, and a smaller blue one. But using their super stretch powers, they magically stretch the blue boomerang until it's bigger than orange! But wait, there's more! Then the magician stretches the orange one juuust enough so that both boomerangs are now exactly the same size!

The Secret

It's an optical illusion! Both boomerangs are the same size. But when you hold one above the other, it looks like one is bigger. By switching their places, you can make it look like the other one is now bigger (use your acting skills to pretend to streeeeetch it out!) And by holding the boomerangs squared up with each other, you can show your audience they are now both the same size. Amazing!
